

John A. Laicher To Be Ordained A Redemptorist

(On Sunday, June 16, at St. Alphonse Seminary, Esopus—Will celebrate his first solemn high Mass at St. Peter's Church on Sunday, June 23.)

The Rev. John Aloysius Laicher, C.S.B., who will be ordained a Redemptorist Father by the Rt. Rev. John J. Dunn, D.D., Auxiliary Bishop of the Archdiocese of New York, during the ceremonies to be held on Sunday, June 16, at St. Alphonse Seminary, Esopus, will celebrate his first solemn high Mass on the following Sunday, June 23, at St. Peter's Church, this city, where for years he had served as an altar boy before entering the Redemptorist College and had been graduated from the parish parochial school. It is significant that Father Laicher is the first Kingstonian to be elevated to the holy priesthood as a Redemptorist.

The Rev. John P. Neumann, pastor of the festive parish, is sparing no efforts to make the church celebrations of this signal event in the young parishioner's life most edifying and impressive so as to be of lasting memory not only to the young priest but also to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Laicher, who have been spared by the Almighty to witness their son's sacerdotal career; to another brother, Frater Paul, who applies to the same Christ-like vocation; to his sister, Anna, and to all his endeared ones. As the young Laicher has made a large acquaintance among the parishioners, and since a celebration of this kind means a superabundance of God's benedictions for a parish, it is anticipated that the church will be crowded to the doors when the procession commences from the rectory to the church on Sunday, June 23, at 10:30 a. m.

Those Who Will Assist at Services

Father Laicher will be solemnly escorted into the church by the ministers of his first solemn Mass. The following will assist at the services: Rev. William McCarthy, C. S. B., as arch-priest; Rev. John Waldron, C. S. B., as deacon; Rev. Joseph A. Eubank, as sub-deacon; Rev. John P. Neumann, Fr. Paul Laicher and Fr. John Fick as masters of ceremony. Father Waldron will be the preacher of the occasion. Being one of the Redemptorists' well known speakers, an eloquent and appropriate discourse will add to the solemnity. The ordained choir under the direction of John B. Schwaibach assisted by an orchestra will render the music for the Mass. At the offertory, the Rev. Joseph D. Ostermann, former assistant of St. Peter's, will sing a solo. After the ceremony altar boys and clergy will form a solemn recessional to the rectory.

His First Blessing

During the afternoon devotions will be held followed by solemn benediction of the Blessed Sacrament and the singing of the "Te Deum." At these services the reverend ordinandus will officiate and will then impart his first blessing to all those in attendance. All the people are welcome to the afternoon devotions so that they may receive the newly ordained priest's first blessing to which a special efficacy and indulgence is attached. Following the services relatives and friends will assemble in the school hall where an opportunity will be given for all to meet and congratulate the newly ordained priest.

Spent Youth in Kingston

Father Laicher's youth was spent with his folks in this city. His elementary education was received at St. Peter's School under the highly esteemed and able tutelage of the Sisters of Christian Charity. He was graduated in June, 1917, and upon realizing his call from God to go on for the priesthood he entered St. Mary's College, North East, Pa., for his high school and college training preparatory to joining the congregation of the Most Holy Redeemer. After six years at the latter institution he joined the Redemptorist Order, making his first novitiate at the Redemptorist House, Ilchester, Md., where he remained one year. The immediate studies for the priesthood were then taken up for five years at the Seminary, Mt. St. Alphonse, Esopus, N. Y. The young priest will remain at the seminary for another year to complete the sacerdotal studies and then after six months of second Novitiate at the Redemptorist House of Missions, Annapolis, Md., he will begin his missionary career as a Redemptorist Father.

Nations Protest Tariff Increases

Threats of Retaliatory Action Against American Goods Have Been of World-Wide Nature—World Economic Combine Against U. S. Proposed.

Washington, June 12 (AP)—A formal note from France protesting against the proposal to increase tariffs on certain French products imported into the United States has been delivered to the State Department by Ambassador Clandet. The note reiterates arguments that France is not benefiting from the provisional favored nations arrangement made between the two governments after the United States protested against the Franco-German trade agreement of 1927.

The French also contend that many of the proposed rates will impose tariffs on French goods which do not compete with American products. Items cited in this category are of a more or less minor nature and include several luxury foodstuffs. The note created some surprise in official and diplomatic circles, since the French-American tariff discussions had been considered of a somewhat different character than those of other nations and had been the subject of lengthy negotiations in Paris.

Other Nations Protest. Formal protests against the tariff also have been filed by Spain, Italy and Persia, and retaliatory action has been urged in these countries as well as France. More than a dozen nations have forwarded material through the State Department for the consideration of the House ways and means and Senate finance committees.

Threats of retaliatory action against American goods since the tariff report was made public have been of a world-wide nature. Chambers of Commerce in Italy, France and Spain have urged adoption of measures by their governments against American products. Several countries are proposing a world economic combine against the United States.

Cases Must Be Tried, Says Judge

When county court convened Tuesday afternoon an affidavit was presented in No. 1, an action brought by The McCaskey Register Company against Dr. B. Franklin Neal of Ellenville, indicating that Dr. Neal was ill and unable to attend court. The case was put over the term.

There being no work for the jury the jurors were excused until Wednesday and court recessed. Judge Fowler announced in county court this morning that cases placed on the day calendar for Thursday would be tried at that time or he would excuse the jurors and discontinue the civil work, bringing back the jury only for criminal work next week. This announcement came after three day calendars had gone to pieces without any work being done after the cases had been placed on the day calendar for trial.

The day calendar as made up for Thursday is No. 5, 16 and 19.

Court recessed until Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

Charles W. Shultis of this city, a salesman for Brown & Dressel, was injured Tuesday in an automobile accident on the Palenville-Catskill road when the Ford car he was driving left the road on a turn and tipped over. Mr. Shultis was badly cut and bruised about the head and body but it is not thought that he was seriously injured. Another man who was riding with him escaped with a shaking up. The Ford was damaged.

Clinic Thursday For Well Babies

The regular well baby clinic will be held at the Junior League Clinic rooms, 253 Wall street, on Thursday afternoon from 3:30 to 5 o'clock. These clinics are a part of the Junior League Baby Welfare program and are held the first two Thursdays of each month under the supervision of a physician appointed from the Ulster County Medical Society, and Miss Anna Cassidy, the competent baby nurse employed by the Junior League. Here the babies are given a thorough examination, and if any are found who need medical attention they are referred to their own doctor for treatment. In this way very often conditions which might cause serious trouble a little later are discovered and arrested. The clinics are open to the public, and each week a great many mothers are taking advantage of this excellent opportunity of safeguarding the health of their children.

Constant Seeks To Divorce Wife

Charles Constant, of 166 First street, Newburgh, seeks a divorce from his wife, Mary Houck, and part of the testimony in the case was heard before Justice George H. Taylor, Jr., in Newburgh on Saturday. Only to be stricken from the record so that Attorney Earle H. Houghtaling may be in a position to start the trial anew before Justice Joseph Morschauer next Saturday, says the Newburgh News.

Married in Ellenville on January 28, 1922, Constant claims that his wife left him and is now living with another man in Kingston. None of the testimony relative to the breaking of the marriage vows was offered, the witnesses failing to appear. The complaint specifically designated indiscreet acts said to have been committed in Woodridge, Sullivan county, with a man named R. Wolf. Alex H. Weeks, who served the complaint on March 20, said he found Mrs. Constant riding in an auto in Kingston and later discovered her address to be 198 North Front street, that city.

"What did she say when you served the papers?" the court wanted to know. "Well," replied the private detective, "she said she was glad to get rid of him and this is the best way to do it."

Mrs. Carrie Ryder of Ellenville, a sister of the plaintiff, testified that the Constants lived together nearly seven years in that village.

LIFE AND CHARACTER OF SMITH AN INSPIRATION

New York, June 12 (AP)—Graduates of Manhattan College, a Catholic institution, today had before them as an inspiration the life and character of Alfred E. Smith, who was hailed by Cardinal Hayes as one of the finest examples of the Catholic concept and ideal in practical life.

The cardinal's tribute to the former New York governor was paid after the latter in a commencement address had told the graduates that success comes only with hard work. "There is an old stock phrase," he said, "that there is no royal road to fame and riches. What does that mean? It means you will get nothing for nothing. Everything you acquire you work for, and some things you aim at you do not get. There would not be anything amusing in life if everything came easy."

Pomona Grange Summer Meeting

Home Economics Committees of Various Subordinate Granges Shown to Have Been Active—Much Interest in 1929 Dramatic Contest of Home Bureau.

A number of visitors from Delaware county Granges were present at the summer meeting of Ulster County Pomona Grange held on Friday, June 7, at Mt. Tremper. Wilbur Cleveland, district deputy of Delaware county, and Mrs. Cleveland, who is lady assistant steward of New York State Grange, Mrs. Clara E. Adair, Pomona lecturer; Adelbert Moore, assistant steward of Pomona Grange, and Mrs. Moore; and Mrs. Lloyd, mother of Mrs. Cleveland, were among them.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland and Mrs. Adair spoke briefly in response to the warm welcome they received. Mrs. Adair pointed out the fact that the goal of 4,000 gain in membership set by the state master meant only a gain of five members in each subordinate Grange, a task within the reach of each Grange.

The reports of subordinate Granges showed that the home economics committees were right on the job. Milton reported that they had cleaned the hall, purchased new shades, and donated $10 to the Revolving Scholarship Fund. They also are holding a pumpkin growing contest among the school children. Highland had a fine Mother's Day program and has pledged 20 cents per member for the Revolving Scholarship Fund of the state. Plattkill made $250 with their play. Clinchdale's committee is so active that Granges will have to step lively to beat them. Lake Katrine has just initiated a class of 21 candidates. Asbury has held a chicken supper and is planning to hold its annual fair in August. Mt. Tremper staged a play, donated $50 toward electric lights in the church, and paid $5 toward the Revolving Scholarship Fund.

Plan to Benefit Granges.

Brother McCormac reported for the special committee that was to develop a plan whereby all Granges would be benefited by the splendid reports that were given at Pomona by the various Granges. A committee was appointed to draft resolutions on the death of Attorney William H. Bogart, Charles E. Bogart of Lake Katrine, and William Atkins of New Paltz. J. Harold Clarke of Milton was elected to fill the unexpired term of Brother Bogart.

Nearly one hundred sat down to the dinner prepared by members of the Mt. Tremper Grange. A rising vote of thanks was given the Grange for the excellent food and service.

Dramatic Contest for 1929.

Miss Nance spoke of the Dramatic Contest for 1929, and explained that the state was divided into five districts, the winning play in the county next competing in the inter-county contest, and the winning play of that competition going to the state contest. Italian, Dutchess, and Saratoga composed one district. Miss Nance said that the winning play in the state would receive $50, and each competing cast would receive a bonus of $20, which is to go toward some community enterprise.

The chairman of the Pomona home economics committee, Mrs. Clement of Asbury, had decided to ask each Grange to enter a play for the County Fair, where they hoped to put over a little theatre project. As it seemed too late to try this plan this year, it was decided to work with the Home Bureau and get as many Granges as possible to enter plays in the County Dramatic Contest. It was voted that the Pomona home economics committee should be added to the county committee of the Home Bureau. A picture painted by the late L. A. Hasbrouck of Woodstock was on display, and will be the prize offered to the Grange making the most points the coming year, and to be held permanently by the Grange making the highest average the third year. The picture was to be given in memory of the charter members of Pomona.

The fifth degree was conferred in full on a large class of candidates. It is regrettable that more of those who had been obligated during the year were not present at this meeting.

The next meeting will be held at Milton in September.

(Signed) HELEN C. TABER, Pomona Reporter.

Both cars were damaged.

Constable Will Appeal Sentences

James Constable of Franklin street, who was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Ralph Constable on Sunday for violation of the motor vehicle law at Stony Hollow, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Alexander Speers of the town of Ulster at Ka-trine on Tuesday evening. He pleaded guilty to having operated a motor vehicle while he was intoxicated, of using wrong license plates and of driving the car without having an operator's license. Justice Speers imposed a fine of $100 for operating the car while intoxicated, and a 30-day jail sentence additional was given. In addition he was penalized in $25 or 25 days in jail for driving without a license, and also fined $10 or 10 days in jail for having wrong license plates on the car. Constable will appeal from the sentence and has secured Brinnier & Elsworth as his attorneys.

Black Exonerated From Any Blame

Alvin L. Black of Poughkeepsie, formerly of Kingston, was exonerated of a second degree manslaughter charge Tuesday by a Dutchess county grand jury, who presented a clean bill absolving Black from any blame for criminal negligence in the death of 12-year-old Samuel Harrington, who was killed several months ago when a MacDonnell Brothers truck, driven by Black, and another car collided and ran into a group of boys playing marbles. Black will be discharged from bail bond furnished by his employers. Civil suits totaling $125,000 have been brought against MacDonnell Brothers by the Harrington boy's mother for his death and for injuries to Harrington's brother, William, who was crippled.

Census Figures Quickly Available

Statistics to Be Announced by Districts When Gathered Instead of Being Tabulated First in Washington—Women Favored for Enumerators Because They Have Tact.

Washington, June 12 (AP)—Population statistics of the 1930 decennial census will be announced publicly in each of 500 districts immediately after they are gathered, instead of being tabulated first in Washington.

William M. Stewart, director of the census, explains that this procedure would be followed for the first time in order that inaccuracies may be detected before the figures are tabulated for the permanent record.

At least 100,000 enumerators will be needed to canvass homes, he says, and between 6,000 and 8,000 more will be employed here later. Selection of women for the jobs of enumerators is favored by the directors because they usually have tact and are faithful in attending to details. The plan is to employ one enumerator for each 2,000 estimated population.

On the basis of estimates of the average periodic increase in population of the country, it is believed that about 123,000,000 individuals must be listed for the new census. Impression of the magnitude of the bureau's task is conveyed by a summary of work done on the last census. At that time 25,999,999 separate forms were distributed and filled out by the canvassers. The information was then transmitted to a file of cards by punching holes in them—399,999,999 cards. Then, cards were run through electrical tabulating machines—the equivalent of running 2,599,999,999 cards.

27 Criminal Cases on Calendar

Twenty-seven cases make up the criminal calendar as prepared by District Attorney Frederick G. Traver. The trial of criminal matters will be taken up Monday afternoon when court convenes. There are a number of cases in which the defendants are on bail and owing to the difficulty in getting jurors to serve at this season of the year these cases will probably go over unless there is some special reason for trial at this time. In cases where the defendants are in jail they will be moved for trial or disposition at this time in order that the defendants need not spend the summer in jail.

The criminal cases will be moved for trial by Mr. Traver as nearly as possible in the order in which they appear on the following calendar: People vs. Fred Meuser. People vs. Arthur G. Overocker. People vs. Herbert Butts. People vs. Ashton Smith and Fred Beatty. People vs. Harold Steiner. People vs. Morgan Dayton. People vs. Gertrude Jones. People vs. Charles Mulford. MacDonald Visit Stirs Washington

Conferences Between European Prime Ministers and Foreign Ministers More Frequent Since World War, But Proposed Trip Is Unprecedented.

Washington, June 12 (AP)—Official and diplomatic Washington has not been so stirred since the Washington Arms Conference over the prospect of an international event as it was today over the possible visit of British Prime Minister MacDonald to the United States.

Indications that Prime Minister MacDonald would be welcomed if he should come to Washington for a conference with President Hoover have been voiced in high administration and legislative circles.

Mr. MacDonald would be a guest during his stay in Washington at either the White House or the British Embassy. It was considered likely, however, that he would be appointed as Ambassador to Washington. Mr. MacDonald's administration confirmed in 1924.

Although the proposed trip is looked upon as unprecedented insofar as Anglo-American relations are concerned, it was pointed out that since the war conferences between European Prime Ministers and Foreign Ministers have been more and more frequent.

A conference between President Hoover and Mr. MacDonald would be a logical continuation of the Anglo-American policy which was being formulated by the Baldwin government before it left office a few days ago.

House Must Take Roll Call Vote on Farm Relief Bill

Senate Insists on Inserting Debiture Plan Provision, Raising Opposition Party on Failure of House to Have Roll Call Vote Which Will Now Be Taken.

Washington, June 12 (AP)—The House apparently has left the task of untangling the legislative snarl, which President Hoover's special session of congress has created over the question of farm relief. Flooding the views of the president against the export debenture plan, which he characterized as a subsidy, the senate has insisted on inserting that provision into the pending measure, even over the emphatic opposition of the house administration leaders.

Some of the senate opposition to elimination of the debenture plan was based on the ground that the house had never had a roll call vote on the proposition and last night at a White House conference an agreement was reached to have that branch of congress formally record itself, perhaps tomorrow.

To that extent at least, the coalition of Democrats and Republican Independents in the senate who have steadfastly insisted upon inclusion of this proposal in the bill stood victorious today over the opposition of Mr. Hoover.

The action of the senate in sustaining the debenture plan resulted in a quick and vigorous retaliation from the White House. No less emphatic than in his previous declarations, the president asserted the vote "adds further delay to farm relief and may gravely jeopardize" the enactment of the legislation.

Friends of the bill are now awaiting the house vote in the hope that the action of that body will clarify the atmosphere and allow the program outlined by Mr. Hoover in calling the special session to go forward.

KIP RHINELANDER SEEKS DIVORCE IN NEVADA.

Las Vegas, Nev., June 12 (AP)—Charles Harmon, attorney for Leonard Kip Rhineland, son of a well-known New York family, disclosed early today that he had prepared a divorce complaint which young Rhineland plans to file within the next two weeks against Alice Jones Rhineland, daughter of a New Rochelle, N. Y., negro.

Cruelty, based on the "humiliation" his wife has caused me by her actions," Harmon stated, would be the basis of the divorce complaint, which will be filed in the Las Vegas district court.

The disclosure of Rhineland's marriage several years ago to the daughter of the New Rochelle hack driver was followed by their enforced separation by his socially prominent family. A subsequent suit for the annulment of the marriage was denied, and the young couple permanently separated.

"Although I have been suffering from stomach, liver and bowel troubles for several years and other medicines had failed to help me, the Nu-Erb has given me wonderful relief from each one of these troubles," said Mrs. G. Walker, Fort Ewen, N. Y. (Near Kingston) recently when interviewed by the Nu-Erb man at McBride Drug Store, 312 Wall Street.

"I was in continual misery and distress because of indigestion, gas formations in my stomach and severe attacks of heartburn. I'd get dizzy spells, dark spots floated before my eyes and splitting headaches from which I could get no relief. I was a chronic victim to constipation and my nerves were so weakened that I could not sleep at night."

"Nu-Erb was almost magical in its effect on my entire system. I have only used three bottles, but it has entirely overcome the gas, indigestion and that distressed, nauseated, choking feeling. It has also put an end to the dizzy spells and spots before my eyes. My nerves are steady, I sleep soundly at night, and I have not had a headache since using the Nu-Erb. My bowels are acting normal without the aid of laxatives, every night as was formerly the case. I can highly recommend Nu-Erb to anyone, for it has helped me after every other remedy had utterly failed."

Liquor Conditions In Canada and United States

This article is the tenth of a series of commentaries by Mrs. Sinclair Lewis on the Canadian liquor situation.

By MRS. SINCLAIR LEWIS
(Formerly Dorothy Thompson)
Copyright, 1929, by N. Y. Evening Post, Inc.

The argument which is chiefly advanced for prohibition in the United States finds considerable credence, I discovered, in Canada as well—namely that it is good for the workingman. The vastly increased buying power of United States is attributed to his greater efficiency, due to the supposed fact that he does not drink, and it is argued the money which he used to spend in the saloon he now spends for radios, automobiles, better clothes for his wife and children, and better food for the whole family.

Canadians who are otherwise perfectly satisfied with government liquor control, as a means of providing reasonably cheap and thoroughly reliable liquor for themselves, will say, "But I'm not sure about the workingman. Your superior prosperity is probably partly due at least to prohibition." The impression, it is clear, exists in Canada that, although the business classes of the United States are larger consumers of alcohol than the same classes in Canada, the workers, under prohibition, have become total abstainers.

Beer Tavern Replaces Saloon

That workmen in Canada do drink is undeniable. You can stand at a factory door in the Province of Quebec any afternoon at closing time and see the workers stream through the door down the street and into the nearest tavern. The beer tavern has taken over at least one function of the old-fashioned saloon—it is the workingman's club. It is not, as it once was, a center for corrupt politics; the administration is bureaucratic and concerned chiefly with keeping the law. Since the taverns—in those provinces which allow them—operate as a public service, it is to the interest of the commissions or boards in control of them to pay attention to the complaints of pastors, social workers and families.

I found it to be a general opinion that the taverns, as they are now run, are far more respectable than the old saloons were. There are undoubtedly occasional breaches of the regulations in Quebec, the only province which I visited where taverns are permitted. The militant drys make a good deal of these and point out instances where taverns have allowed disreputable women to drink with men in the back part of the room. Nor is the regulation that a tavern-keeper may not sell to a man who is already intoxicated, always kept, as I had a chance to observe myself. Yet, on the whole, the taverns are quiet, respectable and overwhelmingly proletarian drinking places. One seldom sees business men in them. They prefer to drink at their clubs, in their homes or in restaurants.

Workers Satisfied.

I found, although a vague impression exists that the money of workmen might be spent in other ways, the workmen themselves are extremely satisfied with the present system, and the opinion of trade union leaders is that there is no evidence to support the belief the tavern system is either lowering efficiency or preventing a greater degree of prosperity.

Parentetically, it may be said, that there is some reason to believe that working men are drinking less hard liquor than they used to under prohibition. As I pointed out in another article, the consumption of "whisky blanc," the proletarian strong drink, has decreased in the Province of Quebec during the last four years. This may be attributable to the fact that other provinces formerly under prohibition may have smuggled Quebec liquor in and now have their own.

But the increase in both beer and wine sales has been prodigious. The report of the Canadian brewing industry indicates 50,000,000 gallons of ale, beer, porter, etc., were consumed in Canada (or exported to the United States) during 1927 the last year for which a complete report is available.

Four million gallons of that was officially cleared for the United States, and this figure may be only a fraction of the total exported to us, but the general opinion in Canada is that most "Canadian ale sold in America is home-made, and no closer to Canadian ale than the label." The per capita consumption in Canada is estimated at five gallons per year.

No Improvement in Workers.

I talked about Government control of liquor and the workingman with one of the most prominent Montreal labor leaders. His opinion was as follows:

"We have not found any material improvement in the conditions of workers in those provinces which tried out prohibition over a long period, except such improvements as could be accounted for by natural economic developments. The maritime provinces are dry under local option and working conditions are worse than anywhere in the Dominion. I do not attribute that fact to prohibition; prohibition, however, has not changed it."

"Ontario was dry longer than any province which has gone back to the legalized sale of drink; it is also the largest industrial province. The trades unions believed there was no evidence whatever that prohibition improved working conditions there."

"I have been a lifelong resident of the City of Montreal. On the whole our people, of all classes, are temperate. I do not believe any large proportion of the income of the Quebec workman goes for beer or spirituous liquor, although it is perfectly true many workmen prefer to sit for an hour with their friends in a tavern to going to a moving picture show."

Lead to Chamberlain Drinking.

"It was our experience that prohibition led to chamberlain drinking and that all classes indulged in it, according to their means."

"The present law is, like prohibition, a measure of class regulation and certain working men are not satisfied with it. Under our law only beer can be purchased by the glass. This means that the average workman cannot buy hard liquor, because he does not like to buy a whole bottle; the price is too high. I believe there is more beer drinking than there used to be, but that probably it is less harmful than the reckless prohibition drinking."

"As far as working conditions are concerned, they are slightly lower in Quebec, which has had government control longer, than in most other provinces, and slightly higher than in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. But I believe this fact has nothing to do with prohibition. We have the disadvantage of the dualism of language in this province. Sixty-five per cent of our workers speak French, the other English. This means that it is harder for them to organize."

Fewer Taverns Than Saloons.

"Under government control there are fewer taverns than there were saloons before modified prohibition. In those days there were 400 saloons in the city of Montreal alone selling everything from whisky to beer. That an enormous moonshine business went on under prohibition, catering to certain classes of workers, is evident from the fact that even now, in the lumber and mining camps, the government control agencies have to contend with 'hand-brand'."

"Alcohol to make it with comes from the same St. Pierre Miquelon which furnishes so much United States booze; it runs into hiding places along the Gaspé Peninsula, with its craggy, much indented coast, and is carried down from there in trucks to be manufactured into 'whisky'. The lumber camps had so much trouble with it that the management, in a number of cases, specifically requested the control commission to open government depots and beer stores, where the men who wanted to drink could get liquor that did not poison them."

There seems some evidence for the belief that the law and the relative accessibility of drink have very little to do with the amount consumed. In Ottawa I ran across figures showing the per capita consumption in Canada on the basis of the amount of alcoholic beverages released for consumption over the whole period since 1900. (It must always be borne in mind that when Canada was "bone dry" as far as sale was concerned alcoholic beverages could still be manufactured. Sale was governed by provincial law, manufactured by the Dominion.)

Decline After War.

In that entire period, the highest points reached in the per capita consumption of spirits were in 1912, 1913 and 1914, before the period of widest prohibition had set in. After the war there was a decline in drinking altogether (according to these figures), a decline which persists to this day.

Whereas the per capita consumption of spirits in 1900 was 703 gallons, and in 1914 was 1,136—the highest point in twenty-eight years—in 1928 it was only 125, which is considerably below that of 1914. Beer, in 1928, is above the 1900 level, but below that of 1914. Wine has remained practically stable, with the two highest points in 1913 and 1928 (145-122).

But the most interesting fact about the whole set of figures is that in 1920, precisely in the period when Canada was driest, spirit consumption was higher than it had been at any time since, even higher than it was last year with every province except two maritime states legalizing drink.

Follow Economic Course.

If any conclusion can be drawn from these statistics—and I should hesitate to do so while we know so little about where the liquor really went—this seems a possible interpretation: drinking appears to follow the same economic curve which influences the sale of other commodities.

The law, whether prohibitory, licensing or government control, does not appear to affect this curve profoundly. The years when Canada was consuming the greatest amount of alcohol were those when her general prosperity was highest—immediately before the war and during the post-war boom.

And on the whole the tendency, for twenty-eight years, under free sale, prohibition and government control has been steadily downward as far as strong alcoholic beverages are concerned, while beer and wine, under all three systems, have remained relatively stable.

Not the law, but other conditions—the rise of the modern industrial organization, for one thing—appear to be determinants.

The eleventh article of the series by Mrs. Lewis will appear tomorrow.

STOOD ALONE FIVE YEARS AGO—STANDS ALONE TODAY

DEC 6 1924

"Chrysler came into a seemingly crowded motor car market and almost overnight swept its way into unprecedented acceptance as a quality product. + Why? Because Chrysler brushed aside outworn traditions in engineering, in design, and in performance.

It brought to bear both scientific exactness and artistry. + That is why Chrysler has taken the country by storm—why it still stands, and will long stand alone."

CHRYSLER'S PLACE IN THE SUN

Prior to five years ago there were no Chrysler motor cars. In five years, Chrysler, from a standing start, has overtaken leading cars of three, four and five times its age.

The spectacle of a newcomer so swiftly becoming a leader can bring the logical mind to but one conclusion: There must be something remarkable, something altogether different and superior, in the cars that Chrysler builds.

There is a definite superiority in Chrysler cars. Hundreds of thousands of motorists the world over have learned it.

There is in Chrysler performance, a thrilling sense of endless power, a swift eagerness of life and spirit, a restful feeling of perfect balance and positive safety that cannot be experienced except in a Chrysler car. There is in Chrysler design artistic freshness and modern charm. There is in Chrysler riding qualities a smoothness, a cradled restfulness quite without counterpart.

Drive a Chrysler car today and realize, better than words could ever tell you, why Chrysler has won so glittering a place in the sun—and why Chrysler goes on and on to an ever-increasing popularity and prestige.

CHRYSLER 75"—$1555 to $1795—Eight Body Styles. CHRYSLER 65"—$1040 to $1145—Six Body Styles. All prices f. o. b. factory. Chrysler dealers extend convenient time payments.

Making Plans for Y. M. C. A. Camp

The attendance at Y. M. C. A. camps throughout the world last year was over 50,000 boys. There must be a reason why so many boys attend the camps conducted by the Y. M. C. A. The reason is found probably in the fact that the Y. M. C. A. is the pioneer organization in camping, with a background and a wealth of experience that cannot be duplicated anywhere, coupled with the fact that the camps are run practically at cost, while the equipment is equal to and surpasses in some cases the private camps. This year the local Y. M. C. A. is putting forth a lot of effort in making their camp the equal of any Y. M. C. A. camp in New York state. The committee in charge, with Charles Rowland as chairman, have held several meetings and have made a great many plans which will bring good times, beautiful bodies, clean minds and happy memories to the boys who attend Camp Freemantle. Mr. Rowland is offering a cup which is to be given to the boy who is the best all-round camper. To ascertain which boy this is, the committee are devising several plans that will bring out the best that is in each boy with the result that the boy who wins the cup may feel exceedingly proud of his accomplishment. Arrangements are being made to have a chaplain in camp for each week, a man who will live with the boys and will lead them in their devotional periods. Arrangements will also be made with Camp Wabkonda and any special services that may occur during the camping period. The best of relations have always been had with Camp Wabkonda and the leaders and the same happy friendships are expected again this year.

Unless the Gas Range has a RED WHEEL it is NOT a LORAIN.

Rows of delicious fruits and vegetables will greet you next winter

Canning need not be a hot wearisome task. There's an easy way to can now. Just place the filled jars in the oven of a Clark Jewel Range, set the oven heat regulator and the range will take care of itself.

Hot kitchens, tiresome kettle watching and spoiled jars are unknown with the Lorain method. The Red Wheel at the side of the range controls the heat of the oven and keeps it just right for perfect canning results. Another feature of oven canned fruits is that they retain their natural color and flavor and do not shrivel up.

Baking and roasting the Red Wheel way are also convenient methods of getting delicious foods. And since the range takes care of itself, you may be out of the kitchen while food preparation is in progress.

The greatest tire of them all!

ONCE you use Kelly REGISTERED Balloons you'll never be satisfied with any other tires. Size for size they are even larger and sturdier than the regular Kelly tire. The tread is much thicker and is carried further down the sidewalls so that the possibility of puncture is negligible. There is more rubber between the plies, and the seven-inch size has two extra plies of cord. Furthermore, for your protection, each

The same thought that was behind the recent importation of quail from Mexico to various states of the Union prompts the German government to import 50 tons of live eels—50,000 of them—for recolonizing the Baltic coast, and thousands of minks to help repopulate the fur-bearing population. Eels are a staple article of diet, while minks help to keep the rich warm and feed the trappers. But does anyone believe that quail will ever again become so plentiful in this country that a poor man who has no gun will be able to buy a few at the butcher shop for the family supper?

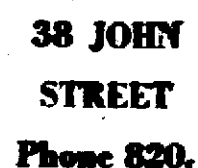

One of our foremost authorities on etiquette informs us that we must never say a word more than "how do you do" when introduced to a person, but it's pretty hard to teach an old dog new tricks and we suppose we shall continue to say as usual, cupping our left hand behind our left ear: "What was the name, please?"

Lyons, Mass.—Gordon Smith wanted to join the navy. He promised the mental and physical examinations, but during the latter process, recruiting officers discovered the tattooed figure of a noble woman on his arm. Before approving his enlistment papers they forced him to have a dress tattooed on the offending picture.

"Woodlief Willie" doubtless did mean a good turn by providing millions of British "Tommys" with "tags," but the story about a chaplain or any other non-combatant in the "front line" trenches is apocryphal. If all the writers, chaplains, sweethearts, congressmen, members of parliament, statesmen, staff officers and visiting notables said to have been in the "front line" trenches actually were there, that will go down into history as the first war in which excursions were run to the firing line.

Perhaps the greatest asset to contentment is a poor memory.

The way of the transgressor is a hard highway out of town.

The off-represent comedy in "The Pottermers" dialogues already have made these sketches popular with the radio audience. The playlets were written by J. P. McEvoy, author of "Show Girl."

The Vedol Hour program sponsored by the Tide Water Oil Company will be held on Thursday, June 20th from 9 to 9:30 p. m. over station WJZ, New York, and 30 stations throughout the country associated with the National Broadcasting Company. New instrumental and vocal selections to be presented in the "Music of Tomorrow" group are Vee Lawhurst's "Taint Nobody's Fault but My Own," sung by the Vedol Trio, and Fred Coots' "Villma," to be presented by the Vedol orchestra and trio. Included in the program will be two orchestral numbers from Ferde Grofe's "The Mississippi Suite" and selections from Gershwin's melodic musical show, "Song of the Flame."

Cincinnati, one of the centers of music in America of which European artists usually know more than the average American music lover, is the birthplace of Grace Divine, contralto of the Metropolitan Opera Company, who is to be the guest artist of the Atwater Kent Radio Hour.

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, June 12 (AP).—(State Department of Agriculture and Markets).—Although the demand for Georgia peaches was more active on the wholesale district today, prices remained a shade lower. The Early Rose variety comprised most of the moderate supply. Carriers of six quart baskets jobbed out at $2.25 for medium to small-sized fruit. Peaches were also on hand from the Carolinas and California.

The undertone on strawberries was again weak and sluggish. Supplies were moderate, but the demand was poor. Quart baskets of various varieties from the Hudson valley realized 15-25 cents, mainly 15c-20c. Offerings from New Jersey sold at 7c-15c, occasionally higher and in a few instances lower.

Prices on California sweet cherries were generally higher. Trading was quite active and receipts were moderate. Lugs of 18 and 20 pounds of the Tartarian variety sold at auction at $2.75-$3.65; Blings brought $3.75-$5.75; Republicans mainly $3.55 and Royal Annes $3.50-$3.65.

Red sour cherries are commencing to arrive from New Jersey and 26-pound baskets wholesaled at principally $2.00.

Offerings of Western New York apples were again limited. The demand was slow but values remained about unchanged. Most of the wholesale business on United States grade No. 1, 2 1/2 inch Baldwins was at $7.00 a barrel.

New York state carlot apple shipments to June amounted to 13,536 cars, as against 10,007 for the same period one year ago.

The price trend on southern and western plums was sharply lower. Supplies were made plentiful and the demand less active. Crates of four baskets from California sold at auction at $1.10-$3.35. Carriers of six baskets from Georgia and South Carolina brought $1.50-$2.00.

Receipts of dewberries and huckleberries from North Carolina were rather light. Offerings varied greatly and sales ranged accordingly. The dewberries brought principally 15c-25 cents a quart and huckleberries 15c-35c.

Increased supplies of raspberries weakened the market and values declined. Pint baskets from New Jersey peddled out at 20c-30 cents. Maryland shipments brought 10c-25c.

Cats Provided Music

One of the strangest musical (?) instruments ever heard of is described in a book written by Willem. He states that when Emperor Charles V introduced Philip II to the subjugated Netherlands in 1549 there was a procession through Brussels in which figured a musician with an organ. A cat with its tail tied to a key was imprisoned in each pipe, and as the musician struck the notes the tails were pinched and the cats screeched and howled. It seems hard to credit to this age of sensibility. There was no S. P. C. A. in those days.

"As Ever, Yours"

Ruskin—who got into trouble with Whistler over a critique—was wont to attack all and sundry with a savage merriment which even his best friends at times resented. Once he wrote to a friend hoping that a fierce criticism written by him of his friend's picture would make no difference to their friendship. To which the friend had the wit to reply:

"Dear Ruskin: Next time I meet you I shall knock you down, but I hope it will make no difference to our friendship."—Kansas City Star.

Gatysburg Gains as Mecca for Tourists

Gatysburg, Pa.—The famous battlefield of Gettysburg—the turning point of the Civil war—is becoming more and more of a tourist mecca and winter means nothing to the men and women who wish to view the scenes of the three days of the bloodiest fighting which ever occurred in the United States.

During January, February and March of this year 44,870 tourists went over the battlefield in company of guides. This is an increase of 1,435 over the same period last year.

15 IN 100 HAD FLU LAST WINTER, CANVASS SHOWS

Epidemic Was Only Half as Severe as Was Scourge of 1918.

Washington.—A survey of the amount of influenza and grip occurring during a three-month period in eleven cities indicates that only about one-half as many people were attacked in the 1928-1929 epidemic as in the great pandemic of 1918, reports the United States public health service. A house-to-house canvass was made of a sample population of 10,000 people in each locality. Nearly fifteen in every hundred of the population canvassed had influenza or grip during the period of the epidemic. This varied with the locality and comprised about two and one-half to three months from October 15 to February 28.

Of the cities canvassed, Boston had the lowest attack rate, 9.9 per cent, and Des Moines, Iowa, the highest, 23.6 per cent. The others were 11.3 per cent for Baltimore, 12.6 per cent for Syracuse, 13.4 per cent for Pittsburgh, 13.5 per cent for Cincinnati, 14.2 per cent for San Francisco, where the epidemic started, 15 per cent for Kansas City, Mo., 16 per cent for Farmington, Mo., and 17.9 per cent for Seattle.

The incidence of influenza is so low in the canvass compared with that found in groups kept under close and continuous observation as to indicate that the reports probably include only a fraction of the cases which actually occurred. Difference of opinion as to what constituted influenza or grip and what a cold, together with the necessity of relying entirely on the memory of the housewife, who gave the information, may account for the low incidence recorded.

An attack rate of 47 per cent was reported for pneumonia and of 14 per cent for colds.

White Herons Finding Sanctuary in Florida

Washington.—The heron, a beautiful bird mourned as near extinction, seems to have found a natural sanctuary in Florida, where it can thrive.

J. V. Kelsey, United States game protector, recently made a trip through the Lake Okechobee section and reported that he witnessed a rare and beautiful sight, and one which indicated an encouraging survival of birds thought nearly extinct. At a point approximately ten miles east and north of Belle Glade, Palm Beach county, and as far as Pahokee, in all a distance of about 23 miles, there were thousands of American egrets and snowy herons stretching away into the overgrown country as far as the eye could see.

He reported that it was impossible to estimate the total of these beautiful birds. Among them he saw a dozen great white herons; and within 100 yards of Belle Glade not less than 300 snowy herons fed unmolested. Mr. Kelsey could give no reason why these birds should have gathered in such vast numbers in this territory, but stated that they represent proof that the plume birds of Florida have not reached the point of depletion that some people believe.

Old Landmark Removed at Woman's Request

Boston.—Local newspapers published stories recently about a hitching post in front of 11 Worcester Square, South End. They described the post as the last landmark in Boston reminiscent of the days when Dobbin was in power. Antiquarians soon appeared for a glimpse of the famous post, and not a few of them rang Catherine Arnold's heavy doorbell to ask questions about its history. Annoyed by the visitors the woman appealed to the public works commissioner, who ordered the post removed.

Marriage Age in Vienna Rising; 30 Is Popular

Vienna.—Before the war most of the Viennese brides were between eighteen and twenty-four years of age. Today the majority of the girls here are led to the marriage altar only when they are between twenty-eight and thirty-four. The figure "30" has become more popular than dangerous, according to the 1926 statistics of the Vienna municipal government.

Millions Unclaimed

Washington.—The United States is holding $48,127,270 which belongs to persons who have purchased government securities and who have failed to present them for payment when they matured.

There is serious doubt whether, in spite of reports to the contrary, a shark ever bites a man. No one seems to be concerned about whether a man ever bites a shark, although, of course, that would be news. — Richmond Times-Dispatch.

"The Devil" Reversed Precept of Good Book

From being a gentle, lovable saint on before marriage, Sandy McGredor's spouse had degenerated into one of the most unscrupulous women, not only in the village but in the county. Her "tactics" were a continual source of despair to her poor husband, upon whom, not content with using her virile tongue, she frequently vented physical punishment. To his credit, he said, Sandy never lifted his hand in return.

Meeting the minister one day after a peculiarly trying time with his spouse, Sandy complained that life was not worth living. "Not yet," said the minister.

'a wife o' mine, curse her!"

The good man was shocked to hear one of his parishioners speaking thus of his wife and, knowing a bit about Sandy's plight, he counseled him to "take his troubles like a Christian." "And remember what the Good Book says," he added. "Resist the devil and he will fly from you!"

"That's a'erra true, minister," said Sandy with a sigh. "But if I resist an a'na she-devil she flies at me!"—Sir Harry Lauder in the London Sunday Chronicle.

What we wonder is, how is Einstein on answering the questions of a bright eight-year-old boy?

Dame Fashion Smiles

By Grace Jewett Austin

Grace J. Austin, combined with just that elusive shade of the little plump raincoat.

If this sounds ridiculous to you, Dame Fashion wants to tell you that she has heard that many highly successful fashions gain inspiration from objects far different from the resulting ones. There are no monstrosities around at present like the hats of several summers ago, which looked like inverted peach baskets, but there is an exceedingly graceful hat to be found this year with an uneven brim ending in a deep fold on the right side. Where have you seen it before? Think hard and rack your memory. Do you know the hats which the sailors wear along the bleak New England coast and call "Nor'easters"? They are quite similar to the hats of rubber that Central states inhabitants associate with fishermen—hats that you have seen all streaming with water from the merciful hose-pipes.

If a fashion guide post could be set up just now, with one of those old-fashioned pointing fingers that used to be plentiful at crossroads, might point to a sign, "This promises to be a comfortable summer for women." Or all the plans for women's wear, that will suit noon-day heat with morning and even pleasant coolness equally well, the ensemble, with jacket over sleeveless gown, is the one that makes comfort doubly sure. Basket-woven shoes give an added touch to such a costume, and bags of basket weave may match the shoes if desired.

Dame Fashion had a relative who was fond of boasting of her "blue cat," and who would look so sad if anyone said: "I can't see where the blue comes in." Now a "blue fox" fur scarf is said to be a highly flattering addition to a wardrobe—indeed, so smart an animal as the fox would not allow himself to be unbecoming, in any shade of him. But Dame Fashion felt as though her blue skepticism had some vindication when she read the words of a great furrier: "Blue fox is really not blue at all, but is a glorious mauve brown."

Two somewhat incongruous things come to mind, which are both good, in fashion's mandates this summer. The first is the lace gown, so universally becoming and so unmistakably feminine, in this year of grace when the injunction, "Be womanly," seems to be listened to with more respect. The second is the nearly-always-with-us polka-dotted dress. The old-time folk in Bohemia who invented the polka put a blithe gaiety of spirit into it, and a little of this spirit seems to abide in the dot. At any rate, if you want a free and easy, happy dress in which you can be at ease this summer, that will not worry you for fear it may get spotted, why, just listen to the beckoning call of the polka dots. Comfortable Tie-About
Has Sports Smartness

This is another comfortable Tie-About. Put it over the head. Slip the arms through. Tie the vest in the front. Tie the belt back. It is on to stay neatly through a morning's housework. With its diagonal lines and flaring skirt it has the smartness of a sports dress. The print in blue, beige and tangerine red on white is marked crisply with bindings of the same red. The vest of white linen adds to its freshness. Pockets set above the circular skirt give a good-looking double line at the side. Women's Home Companion.

Dust Now Recognized

as Powerful Explosive

It is more or less generally well known that all dust accumulations represent a menace of no mean proportions. Dust is explosive and many mills were wrecked by this mysterious power before the real cause was understood. In a mine, for instance, the explosion taking place in one chamber was carried to the next and so on until the explosive force swept through the entire mine and the workings were wrecked completely. It is only within a comparatively few years that it was ascertained that this march of destruction was conducted through the subterranean passages by the accumulation of dust on the walls and in the crevices. Now this is avoided by a coating which is sprayed on and which prevents the dust thus treated from exploding. In the case of grain mills the damage done by these mysterious bursts was particularly severe and the government agencies have been giving considerable attention to the study of these mysterious blasts. In the course of some experiments it was found possible to drive an automobile engine by the use of finely powdered corn dust. —Louisville Courier-Journal.

Dire Punishment for Man "Mute of Malice"

"Mute of malice" is a legal term of considerable antiquity, and applies to prisoners who on being arraigned in court refuse to plead. In a recent Dublin case, counsel said that to such a verdict of this kind nowadays was only an "honorary immunity."

But once it was not so. Then publicity was terribly severe. There is an instance as late as 1748. A highwayman, who pretended to be dumb and refused to plead at Killybegs assizes, was tried as to whether he was "mute and idiotic by the hand of God or willfully so." On being found "mute of malice," he was sentenced to be pressed to death, a decree which was carried out in the market place.

"As the weights were heaping on the wretched man" (says an account) "he earnestly supplicated to be hanged, but it being beyond the power of the sheriff to deviate from the mode of punishment prescribed in the sentence, even this was an indulgence which could be no longer granted to him." —London Mail.

Tagging Major League Bases

By WILLIAM J. CHILMAN.

After developing a strange feeling for losing ball games to Brooklyn, the Pirates executed a smart about-face at Forbes Field yesterday in time to save themselves from the ferocious Rockies—and a plunge into second place. Brooklyn had in the making a double-play which would have ended the game in its own favor, but Dave Hanford slipped on a try to first base for the second half of the intended double-play, and the Pirate runners scored, winning the game by 3 to 2.

The Cardinals had an easy time downing the Phillies, 10 to 3.

The Giants regained their stride by defeating Cincinnati, 5 to 3, through the second shut-out effort of the first 15 games in four days. The Cubs now invade Pittsburgh in what shapes up as the most important series of their trip. The Cubs-Braves game at Chicago yesterday was postponed because of rain.

The Yankees took further steps toward capturing the American League pennant by winning their third straight from the Browns, 11 to 5, but the champion failed to get on the Athletics, who defeated the White Sox by 10 to 3 and retained a lead of seven games.

Although the Red Sox outdid the Tigers by 11 to 7 at the Fenway, the western team bunched its hits to advantage, winning by 5 to 3.

Washington batters went on another rampage, belting Fred Marberry to defeat the Indians at the Capital by 15 to 2.

Industrial Game Ends in Deadlock

After playing two hours of listless ball the Columbia-Tablet and K. & M.-Schillings' game ended in a 1-1 deadlock Tuesday evening at the Athletic Field. Charles Maines' home run with Pete Komosa on second base was the feature of the game.

Tommy Lewis also poked a home run. Lewis' hit should have been held to at least a double, but some ragged playing of the ball aided him in reaching home. Hotelling led the batters with three singles out of three trips to the plate.

Tommy Lewis pitched for Co-Tablet and held the K. & M.-Schillings to four hits, three of which figured in the scoring. He allowed eight walks.

Phil Komosa was Lewis' opponent. Komosa was found for more hits than Lewis, being touched for 10 safeties.

Bango scored the first run for K. & M.-Schillings in the first inning. In the second inning Pete Komosa hit a double and Maines hit his homer.

A walk to Merritt, two stolen bases and Diddie's single scored their final run in the third.

The Co-Tablet's best inning was the second, registering three times. A walk to Ballard and hits by Hopper, Keller and Hotelling accounted for the runs. The Co-Tablet also scored their last run in the third when Lewis poked his homer.

Noted for Severe Winters

The weather bureau says that, generally speaking, the state of North Dakota and the eastern portion of Montana and the western portion of Minnesota have the most severe winter climate, although portions of northern New England and the mountain sections of northern New York have weather conditions nearly approaching those in the sections first named. Likewise, some of the mountain districts have severe weather over somewhat longer periods than in the sections previously mentioned, and heavier snows may occur, but usually the temperatures are not so low during periods of intense cold as occur in the lower levels of the states first mentioned.

Afterthought

The polite guest in southern Arabia, says a writer of the National Geographic society, always secretes a few coffee berries in his turban, and thus supplies his own beverage at the house where he is calling.

I call to mind guests in this country who were not so thoughtful. They brought no coffee berries concealed in their hats. They brought no cream and sugar in their hats or elsewhere. They brought no roast chicken, bread and butter, salad, ice cream, or pie. But, when reminded, they were quick to repair the oversight, and took plenty of each away with them.—Exchange.

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

A Diversity of Materials Running the Gamut From Cotton to Velvet.

New York—Fashions were again that fashion glazes over extremes. It may be mentioned that the same season that brought velvet into its own brought cotton back to society's favor. If ever there was a time when a diversity of material and color was available it is now, and we are inclined to be somewhat bewildered by the wealth of things from which to choose.

For evening the preference is for chiffon which have taken on some of the desirable crispness of organza and for day which are some what stiff. Prophets have it that the entire fall trend is towards stiffer evening fabrics, burrass satin for instance and silks which bow to the stand alone traditions of other generations. In the meantime the softer wool fabric is the better liked it, and even on into warm weather woollen ensembles were worn and seen at smart places, although women lose little time in getting into their printed ensembles, some of which make use of two contrasting materials although the majority introduce a desired contrast by printing portions of the dress which of course produce an astonishingly different effect from the plain print. Just recently prints of a slightly larger pattern have been noted, although the general feeling is for the small or relatively small pattern print, a type large women especially find easy to wear. While prints with dark motifs on a light ground have already been popular, the new print is worn by extremely slim women. In most of the best looking ensembles the coat is also of the print, and usually is without a collar so that the wide bottom seam may be displayed. The wearing of over the coat, most dresses are of course sleeveless.

A wide collar is also given some of the most military and searching for good looking sport clothes, bathing suits and swimming trunks. The new bathing suit is from practical looking pajamas to sailor-like costumes with a strong tendency to the use of red, white and blue. Cotton is leading it over other fabrics this summer, and is as gay as one could wish.

Although women are determined to be sun-tanned they prefer acquiring this hue in the comfortable out-of-a-bottle manner rather than by the more painful process of baring one's back to the sun. Because this is so, there is interest in tiny toy-like parasols, wide brimmed hats and all sorts of accessories which hamper one's burning but making up for it by giving us the right color. While there is some talk of sports clothes being slightly less colorful, it hardly seems to be borne out by the average beach costumes encountered during the long summer afternoon hardly suggests anything but an abandonment to color, even though exclusives occasionally prefer black.

"It won't be long now" before one may actually know whether or not the fad of going without stockings will have any bearing on the style situation. There are bound to be some women who will seize the opportunity to eliminate stockings, but that these will be the women who conceal, hardly seems creditable at this season.

Parasols, Leghorns, balbrastis, bakons—so runs the story of straw hats and what a lot of it is after all worn!

Eleanor Gunn Says

That prints galore are being worn. Those in slightly larger patterns have been remarked at the more exclusive places.

The sleeveless ensemble, the dress made with a bertha collar which serves the double purpose of covering the upper part of the bare arm when the coat is removed, and as a collar for the matching coat, is having a tremendous vogue.

Yellow with red is a dominant influence in the new color schemes of the summer, this possibly being given impetus by the Barcelona fair, red and yellow being the colors of Spain's flag.

Reds and browns are also strikingly combined, this being especially true in Paris, where light weight woolen ensembles are much worn. The American preference at the moment however is for printed crepe, coat and all.

Latest reports from Paris are concerned more with side dip skirts than those which are long at the back.

Sports and dress hose in suntan shades are pronouncedly in favor and will replace white hose for summer wear even with an otherwise all white costume.

Deauville sets its seal again on the jacket costume.

An attractively tied bandana substitutes for a hat these days in the country, and is seen in Morocco as well as on the beach.

The practice of starching chiffon, or subjecting it to other treatments to give it body grows, the prevailing silhouette calling for some body in the material used.

Silks and satins have both stiffened and taken on weight for evening, this being one of the most certain of fall predictions.

OUR DAILY PATTERN

A Dainty Frock For Mother's Girl. 6502. Crepe de chine was chosen in this instance. One could have plain or printed chiffon or voile or taffeta. The long waist portions are joined to full skirt portions, which are shirred at the sides and back in deep yoke effect. The sleeve may be one in wrist length, or short puff sleeve. A ribbon sash is the only trimming on this pretty model. It is drawn through slashes in the front of the waist.

The pattern for this dress is cut in 4 sizes: 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. To make a 10 year size with long sleeves will require 2½ yards of material 35 inches wide or wider. If made with short sleeves 2½ yards will be required. The sash of ribbon requires 2½ yards.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 15c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Fashion Book Notice. Send 15c in coin or stamps to The Freeman for our up-to-date Spring and Summer 1929 Book of Fashions showing color plates, and containing 500 designs of ladies', misses' and children's patterns, a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, also some points for the needle (illustrating 30 of the various simple stitches), all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

Idea Won Fortune. Louis Guttenberg came home from the Civil war with two army uniforms and looked around for a job. Wearing uniforms at dress parties was very much in vogue then and Guttenberg found he could rent out his two army suits for this purpose. That was the beginning of the largest costume business in New York city, perhaps the world, and the foundation of a fortune.
